Heritage Film: Nation, Genre, and Representation (Short Cuts) By Belén Vidal

This volume provides a comprehensive introduction to the critical debates around the heritage film, from its controversial status in British cinema of the 1980s to its expansion into a versatile international genre in the 1990s and 2000s. This study explores the heritage film in light of questions of national identity in film and television, industry and funding, and history, gender and representation. Using a wide range of examples and including an in-depth analysis of three case studies – Girl with a Pearl Earring (2003), Joyeux Noël (2005) and The Queen (2006) – this book presents the heritage film as a thriving phenomenon at the centre of contemporary European cinema.

Editorial Review

Review

The elusive and amorphous nature of the heritage film is adeptly brought into focus by this lucid discussion of the debates surrounding one of the most contested concepts in film and television studies.... An invaluable introduction for students of national identity in film and television period drama.

(Pam Cook, University of Southampton)

This series is tailor-made for modular approach to film studies.... An indispensable tool for both lecturers and students.

(Paul Willemen, University of Ulster)

...an excellent survey of the existing academic literature on the subject...

(Giacomo Boitani Journal of American Studies of Turkey)
