The World of Culinary Supervision, Training, and Management (2nd Edition) By Noel C. Cullen

Written by one of this country's 51 Certified Master Chefs, this #1-rated resource gives aspiring chefs, sous chefs, chefs de cuisine, and executive chefs the necessary knowledge, skills, and attitudes required to lead, supervise and manage foodservice workers—identifying those key areas that will lead qualified individuals into the chef positions of the future, and providing reasonable solutions to situations that typically evolve from them. Outlines in clear terms those elements crucial to success in today's quality driven foodservice industry—detailing the elements of supervision and total quality management; examining all aspects of training as it affects the chef supervision; and providing practical, step-by-step discussions on crucial management skills and functions involving a chef supervisor—from management to customer relations, menu planning, communication, team-building, goal-setting, problem-solving, supervision, training, discipline, and performance appraisal, and the training and motivation of the production/service team. Integrates unique “Chef Talk” segments written by leading U.S. chefs, and includes a new chapter “Building Teamwork in the Kitchen”. For those in the culinary, hospitality & travel/tourism professions; ideal for use in training seminars and for those studying for certification for the American Culinary Federation Educational Institute.

Editorial Review

From the Publisher

Written by one of this country's 51 Certified Master Chefs with over 25 years of experience in the food service/hospitality/education and culinary arts field, this unique text gives aspiring chefs, sous chefs, chefs de cuisine, and executive chefs the necessary knowledge, skills and attitudes required to lead, supervise and manage foodservice workers. Detailing the elements of supervision and total quality management; examining all aspects of training as it affects the chef supervision; and outlining management skills and functions involving a chef supervisor, Dr. Cullen's informational, educational, and training resource fulfills a need as chefs move from being culinarians to managers, supervisors and trainers in the world of total quality management.
